Background

In 2014 the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) was signed into law. WIOA represented the most sweeping change to the Nation's workforce development efforts in nearly 20 years. Among its many changes, WIOA charged the State Workforce and Talent Development Board (WTDB) and local Workforce Development Boards (LWDBs) to expand and coordinate Federal, State, and local workforce development resources and programs through an integrated workforce development system.

In June 2016, the U.S. Departments of Education and Labor issued the final regulations to implement WIOA. The regulations clarify the need and expectation to modernize the nation's workforce system and represent a more integrated, job-driven approach to support communities and expand job growth.

The regulations reaffirm the role of the one-stop delivery system, known in Oregon as WorkSource Oregon (WSO), as the cornerstone of the public workforce development system and require core partners to collaborate to support a seamless customer-focused service delivery network. The goal is to build a comprehensive system that increases the long-term employment outcomes for all individuals seeking services.

While WSO has made significant progress over the years to align and coordinate resources with programs, opportunities for system improvement remain. A recent 3rd party assessment of the WSO system found, among other things, that "WorkSource Oregon is not well defined or understood by stakeholders and customers, contributing to a lack of accountability and ability to effectively focus on continuous improvement."

WorkSource Oregon Primary Programs and Resources

WIOA calls for strengthening the alignment of workforce programs through strategic planning, common performance accountability measures, and shared governance. The following programs and resources define the primary WorkSource Oregon system (Links to more in-depth information and legal citations are included in the attached Appendix):
